MARSHALL MEETS WEST VIRGINIA AND WESLEYAN

Teams at Morgantown and Buckhannon This Week and Fast Games Expected.

On Wednesday the first real battle for the baseball championship of West Virginia colleges begins when Marshall, the present title holder, invades Morgantown and Buckhannon for two games in each place. True, the Huntington school has already won two from Wesleyan, but the outcome of this week's games will about tell the tale.

Marshall appears to have the advantage, inasmuch as it can lose all four games and still battle to a tie with the others by winning two from West Virginia at Huntington the latter part of May. If such a thing would happen it would mean that each team would win two each from the other. If Marshall wins one game in each town then it will have a decided advantage, as Wesleyan will be eliminated and it will remain for Marshall and West Virginia to decide things in the two-game series at Huntington later on.

Coach Chambers, of Marshall, says that he is fully aware that West Virginia has a better team than last season, and that Wesleyan, because of its great hurling staff, is more dangerous than ever. Hence the southerners are making no claims other than that they are better than when they won the title last season.

It is undoubtedly true that Davisson and Lawrence are the class of the college hurlers with the possible exception of Morrison. In hitting the three big outfielders of the on the Marshall team are supposed to be the best in a hitting way, while in fielding the Morgantown outfielders are the class. On the infield Rodgers is best at short for West Virginia. Miller, of Wesleyan, the star at third, while Dearn, of Marshall, is in a class by himself. At second, Echols, of Marshall, and Leatherwood, of West Virginia, are the best. In catching all three are strong, with Takington, of Wesleyan, looking the best.

DURANGO STATE VERY RICH IN MINERALS

Country in Mexico Occupied by American Soldiers is Large as Virginia.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The march of General Pershing's punitive expeditionary force to Durango, Mexico, has focused public interest on this state which has an area equal to Virginia and a population not exceeding that of New Hampshire. The National Geographic Society of Washington has issued an interesting and informative bulletin on this rich political division of the southern republic, which says:

"Durango is surpassed in the number of its mining properties, aggregating more than 4,000, by only two states in Mexico—Chihuahua and Sonora. Its natural resources include silver, gold, tin, copper, sulphur and rubies. The state's wealth is not confined to minerals, however, for there are extensive forests of valuable timber and the agricultural resources are capable of almost unlimited development, while 1,000,000 head of stock find rich pasturage on its fertile tableland.

"The Nazas river, which empties into Lake Habas, is the principal waterway of the state. It is known as the Nile of Durango. In the spring, as the snow melts, the river inundates its valley, leaving a rich deposit of silt brought down from the mountains. After the waters have receded the land bursts into bloom like a miniature Egypt, cotton, barley and wheat growing in great luxuriance, while the whole landscape assumes the aspect of a flower garden.

Yes! A Sensible Cigarette and you can prove it!

As a matter of fact, there are several sensible cigarettes on the market today. Fatimas aren't the only ones.

You can figure for yourself what a sensible cigarette is:

First—it must please your taste.

Second—it must be cool and comfortable to the throat and tongue.

Third—it must leave you feeling good and snappy even after you have smoked more than usual; no heavy or "heady" feeling—no grouch at yourself for having smoked too much.

On the second and third points Fatimas ring the bell every time.

On point No. 1, the taste—that is strictly up to you. Most men like the taste of Fatimas so well that they outsell any other cigarette costing over 5 cents.

But tastes differ and Fatimas may or may not taste as good to you as to all these thousands of other men.

You can't tell about that, of course, until you try Fatimas. That's the only way to prove how SENSIBLE they are. Try out a package today and prove it yourself.

TWO TESTS FOR ANY CIGARETTE

The taste of the cigarette—according to a leading tobacco journal—is up to the smoker. But there are other qualities that you should look for in the cigarette that you are going to stick to for your steady smoke. Here are a couple of tests that may help the average smoker to choose more wisely between different kinds of cigarettes.

The first test is for coolness, which means more comfort to the throat and tongue. Light any cigarette. Draw in a cloud of smoke—a small, ordinary puff is not sufficient to make this test. Hold it in your mouth for a few seconds. Let it "float" around against your tongue and throat. Now blow out the smoke. If the cigarette contains a high grade of mild tobacco leaves, combined in just the right proportion, it will always feel COOL and smooth both to your throat and to your tongue.

On the other hand, if the proportions are not right and if the cigarette contains inferior grades of tobacco or hidden strands of rank, oily leaf, you will feel a stinging, stinging at the tip of your tongue or that "sandpaper" tickle in your throat.

Test number two—How do you feel after smoking all day?

If the tobacco in the cigarette includes a correct proportion of mild grades—and if all the various grades have been properly mellowed by age—and if they have been so blended as to bring out the best qualities in each of the different types of tobacco, you will be able to smoke practically whenever you feel like it through the day without feeling any tired from it.

But with another cigarette in which the blend is less skillful, even though the tobacco is of the highest grade, you will find along towards the end of the day that you are likely to have that feeling of having "smoked too much."

Clip out these tests and try them on Fatima

FATIMA THE TURKISH BLEND A Sensible Cigarette 20 for 15¢

FATIMA was the only Cigarette Awarded the Grand Prize, the highest award given to any cigarette at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

"One of the most interesting trees to be found on the mountain slopes of Durango is a species of pine, the needles of which the Indians and Mexicans boil and use as a remedy for stomach troubles. Its taste is like that of anise seed. The wood of this tree is much used by the Indians in the manufacture of their primitive violins.

"One of the products indigenous to Durango, but one of which the state does not boast, is a venomous species of scorpion whose sting is almost invariably fatal in the warm regions of the state but which is more painful than dangerous in the higher and cooler altitudes. In the vicinity of Durango City 60,000 of these reptiles are killed annually, some of the natives making a business of destroying them, collecting from the municipality a bounty of one centavo per scorpion.

"At an elevation of 6,000 feet, the city of Durango, capital of the state, enjoys a matchless climate which has earned it the sobriquet, 'town of sunshine.' It is one of the oldest Spanish settlements in the republic, having been founded by Captain Barba two years before the followers of Don Pedro Menendez de Aviles initiated the permanent colonization of the United States at St. Augustine. The site of the present city was reached by the adventurer and silver seeker Mercado, who in 1552 discovered the famous Iron Mountain, of the suburbs. When Barba arrived with his colonists the country was occupied by nomadic savage tribes.

"One of the odd customs of the Durango district is the funeral ceremony for children. 'An angel is being buried' is the explanation which a native will give of a gay procession headed by a woman bearing aloft on a board a bundle bound in white. The parents of the child are obligated to give it joyfully to heaven, to the accompaniment of music and dancing. If there is weeping the baby cannot enter paradise until it has gathered all the tears.

"One of the places of historic interest which American troops may see is the town of Santiago de Papasquiaro, said to derive its name from 'paz quiero,' meaning 'I want peace.' The phrase alludes to the defeat of the Indians following a massacre of the missionaries and a burning of the churches by the Tepehuanes and Tarahumiras in 1916. After the outrage the Indians gathered a force estimated at 25,000 and marched on Durango City. The governor of the province, with 600 valiant whites, determined to resist and save the territory for Spain. In the battle which followed the Spanish chroniclers declared that the governor completely overcame the insurgents, who lost 150,000 men. After this overwhelming defeat the Indians wanted peace. Durango derives its name from the old Spanish town of that name, in the Basque provinces."

STUDENTS TO RAISE $7,000.

The sum of $7,000 which Stanford University students are endeavoring to raise in order to send the "varsity" crew and track team east this spring appears at first sight to be a large amount of money for the purpose. When it is considered, however, that at least twenty-five athletes will have to make the round trip of 7,000 miles the sum does not seem so big against transportation and board bills for a period of a month or more.

FINE WEATHER

For Spring Football Training, but Bad for All Other Kinds of Athletics.

While the cold and unreasonable weather, which has prevailed in the East during the last three weeks, has greatly upset both professional and amateur sports scheduled it has been a boon for spring football training at the big universities. The candidates have been able to indulge in much harder preliminary work than was the case a year ago when the thermometer was from twenty to thirty degrees higher. Practice is either completed or under way at Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Cornell, Brown, Columbia and other institutions, which feature the game, and the coaches report large squads and much enthusiasm among both the veterans and the new men who will try for places on the 'varsity' eleven next fall.

UNEQUAL CONFLICT.

Speed mania is present. In our abode this spring. We race through work and pleasure; we race through everything.

My eldest son each morning disturbs my well-earned rest with this loud-spoken challenge: "I'll beat you getting dressed."

And when that contest's over, "I'll race downstairs with you." And at the breakfast table, "I'll beat you getting through."

What though defeat (I'm human) aye fills me with chagrin, I can't decline his challenge, Nor can I ever win.

For this is a funny sportman, This eldest son of mine. He'd point if I refused to race, And if I won, he'd whine.

FLAG SYSTEM

Used in the City of Chicago Tells When the Cubs Are Going to Play.

The announcement by President Charles Weeghman, of the Chicago Cubs, that a system of flags, hung from prominent buildings in the business center of Chicago, will be used in the future to notify fans of the section whether the game will be played as scheduled each day, might well be copied by club owners in other big league cities. Newspaper office and other information distributing centers are frequently besieged by those who do not care to make a long trip to the ball parks unless they are reasonably certain that the teams will play. Ideas of this type, which help to put the game upon a real business basis, will be appreciated by followers of the sport wherever the game is played.
